A Big Prize—October Jurors—The Soldiers' Home Embroglio—A Letter

Death of Charles King.

A Big Prize for Good Corn.

For the best bushel of corn exhibited at the county fair, September 29, 30, October 1 and 2, Mills Bros. have offered a special premium of a pure bred Holstein-Friesian bull calf, valued at $50. This prize should create considerable competition. The Mills Bros. herd have attained a state reputation and the prize is much more valuable than ordinarily offered at fairs for corn. Farmers with good corn have an opportunity of securing a pure bred Holstein-Friesian bull without much trouble or expense.

Looking After the Hogs.

Inspector Clark has now twenty-three hog pens on his hands, which he says give him more trouble than all the other nuisances in the city. There are from two to thirty pigs in a place.
One place visited Monday morning had twenty-nine pigs. One lady informed the inspector, talking of one of these pens, that the odor was so bad she could not eat, and that she was bound to have those pigs removed. Six pens were visited Monday which contained nearly fifty hogs. A revision of the ordinance governing the keeping of hogs inside the city limits is talked of.

The New Assistant in St. Andrew's Church.

Rev. Robert A. Holland, jr., of St.
Louis, Mo., has been engaged as assistant to Rev. Mr. Tatlock, of St.
Andrew's church. He is expected to begin his work here about the first of October. He is the son of Rev. Dr.
Holland, rector of St. George's church, in St. Louis, Mo., and at present is acting as his father's assistant. He has taken deacon's orders and studied theology in the Episcopal theological school at Cambridge, Mass. He comes very highly recommended and will find a good and important work here for his hands to do.

This Should Settle It.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 16.— The Soldiers' Home board to-day discussed the Captain Manly difficulty and finally instructed Manager B. F.
Graves, one of the republican members, to seek a personal interview with Captain Manly to demand the return of that $300.50 alleged to have been appropriated when the assets were turned over to Manager Sprague.
Should Manly persist in being backward about it criminal proceedings will immediately be commenced against him. The report that Manly also appropriated curtains, etc., belonging to the state, was to-day found without foundation, the goods being found. Manager Graves left to-night for Ann Arbor and things will soon come to a focus. In this connection L. F. Williams, managing editor of the Telegram-Herald, who saw the transfer of assets made, declares positively that Manly paid the money over and received a receipt for the same from Sprague, the receipt being made out in triplicate, and that at the close of the transaction Sprague put the money in his inside coat pocket and departed.—Detroit Tribune.

A Green Worm Doing Great Damage in Jackson County.

A plague has fallen upon sections of Napoleon township. A green worm about two inches long is devastating its forests. It feeds on the leaves of the oaks and in one piece of woodland near Wolf lake, about sixty acres are as denuded of foliage as if swept by fire. The trunks of the trees and the ground are covered by the worms, the advance guard of which appeared last year.

Hon. Patrick Hankard, of Henrietta, said yesterday that the same pest exists in his township. About thirty acres of woods on the farm of Geo.
Kellogg, within three weeks has been stripped clean of its leaves. Worms cover the trunks and are continually dropping from the branches and the ground is so thickly covered that it is impossible to step without crushing them. Mr. H. thought the season so far advanced that the trees would not be seriously affected by this terrific onslaught on their vitality.—Jackson Patriot.

Death of a Prominent Ypsilantian.

While at dinner Friday the family of Charles King, the pioneer grocer of Ypsilanti, were startled to see him suddenly overcome by heart trouble.
Hastily going to his relief, they laid him upon a couch, where he breathed without regaining consciousness for about fifteen minutes. Then all was over. Mr. King had been down town, as well as usual, all the morning, had driven about as was his wont, and the shock caused by his death was the greater because of its unexpectedness.

Charles King was born in London, England, September 12, 1823, and came to the United States with his father in 1833. The business of C. King & Co., as the present firm is known, was founded in 1837, by the father, Charles King, assisting in it from the first, the style of the firm being George R. King & Son. The father died suddenly in 1849, after which the firm of C. and E.
King (brothers) was formed. In 1867 the deceased purchased his brother's interest, since which time he has been chief owner. In 1873 he admitted his son Charles E., and later a nephew, John Lamb, into the business.

Mr. King was married in 1850 to Miss Susan Sewell, who preceded him to the unknown. A son, Charles E.
King, and a daughter, Mrs. John H.
Wortley, both of this city, were born to them.

Deceased was a thoroughly honest business man, a citizen whose character was above reproach. By strict attention to business he had attained a competency, which afforded him in his later years an abundance of leisure to enjoy himself as he pleased. Known to every person in the vicinity, and knowing everybody, he was always ready for a salutation, and had a smile for each. And not only will he be missed by the few old settlers who have grown up with the place, but by all. The funeral took place from the residence, Monday afternoon, in the presence of a large attendance, many coming from surrounding towns. The beautiful services of the Episcopal church, of which the deceased was a consistent member, were conducted by Rev. M. S. Woodruff, rector of St.
Luke's, assisted by Dea. J. M. B. Sill.
—Ypsilanti Sentinel.

The Name Should be Changed.

It has been suggested that it would be very appropriate to change the name of North street to Kingsley street.
North street has no peculiar significance, for there are many streets north of North street. On the other hand, Kingsley street would be most appropriately named. Judge Kingsley built the first house on North street as early as 1828 or 1829, opposite the old school house now used as a tenement house. The first house was a two story white house, and was quite an imposing structure for those days. In fact, it went by the name of Kingsley's castle. Sometime in the '30's, Judge Kingsley also built what was recently known as the Henriques house, where David Rinsey's residence now stands.
He occupied a very large tract of ground on North street, including where St. Thomas church now stands.
He sold the church lot to the church and gave liberally towards its construction.

Judge Kingsley did very much for Ann Arbor. He was a member of the legislature at the time the location of the University was secured at Ann Arbor and exerted considerable influence in bringing about that location here. He was one of the first trustees of the University appointed by Gen.
Cass. He was a member of the first board of regents of the University, appointed under the constitution of 1850.
He was one of the early mayors of Ann Arbor. He drew the original charter of the Michigan Central railroad, and it was largely through his influence that the road was brought here. No street has ever been named for him, or anything done by the city to show appreciation for his great services in behalf of the city. It is for this reason that the suggestion is made that the name of North street, on which he lived, should be changed to Kingsley street.

The Wife of Stevens T. Mason.

After the pages of the Argus containing the article, "Who is Paulina Mason," went to press this week, we were in receipt of a letter from ex-Governor Felch concerning the matter, which is given below.

EDITOR ARGUS: In the Detroit Tribune of the 80th ult. I notice a remarkable article headed, "A Woman with a History," and purporting to be an interview with the widow of Stevens T.
Mason, the first governor of the state of Michigan. The interview is said to have taken place at Toledo, Ohio, where it is alleged this widow resides.

A reference to a few brief facts will show how utterly mendacious and unfounded this pretence is.

Governor Mason was married in the city of New York, in the year 1838.
His wife was Julia E. Phelps, a daughter of Thaddeus Phelps, a well known successful and highly-esteemed business man of that city. On the 4th day of January, 1843, Governor Mason died in New York, leaving the wife above mentioned a widow with three children. His widow was married in 1847 to W. H. McVickar, a merchant of New York, and she died in that city in 1870. Of the three children left by Governor Mason, two are dead and the survivor, a most estimable and worthy lady, now Mrs. D. M. Wright, resides in Newark, N. J. The writer of this note, who was intimate with the father in his lifetime, enjoys the pleasure of an occasional correspondence with this daughter. The warm attachment of the people of Michigan to their first governor was signified by funeral services in his honor at Detroit on the 15th day of the month in which his death occurred with a large procession of military and civil officers.

I have no means of knowing who this pretended widow is, nor indeed whether any person exists who even pretends to be that character, but it is certain that no widow of Stevens T.
Mason has been living since 1870, more than twenty years ago.

It is not my purpose further to criticise the contents of the article referred to, with its wild imaginings of greatness, wealth and royalty, but I can not forbear saying that its incidental reference to the history of Michigan and of the men who gathered around and acted with Governor Mason at that interesting period of Michigan history, are sadly at fault. In the editorial columns of the Detroit Free Press published a few days after the article appeared the errors and absurdity of some of its statements are pointed out.
I think it due to the surviving relatives and friends of Governor Mason that the mis-statement as to the survivor-ship of his widow should be corrected and this is the purpose of this note.

ALPHEUS FELCH.
Ann Arbor, September 17, 1891.

Smaller State Taxes This Year.

The state board of equalization have finished their work. Washtenaw county has been equalized at $31,000,- 000, an increase of $1,000,000 over five years ago. But under the new equalization Washtenaw will pay less state taxes than under the old, for the total equalization of the state is fixed at $1,130,000,000, or $184,550,000 more than in 1886. For the past five years Washtenaw has paid a little over three and an eighth per cent. of the state taxes, while hereafter she will pay a little less than two and three quarters per cent. To be exact about it under the equalization of 1886 her percentage was .0817308, and under the equalization of 1891 it is .0274336. To indicate how this will affect taxes we may take the state tax levy for this year, $1,420,- 274.62. Of this amount Washtenaw will pay $88,963.24. Under the equalization of 1886 she would have paid $45,066.50, a saving this year in state taxes of $43,896.74. As our readers will know, this is the year of big state taxes, as it is the year following the session of the legislature, and yet, although the state taxes are necessarily higher than last year, the state tax that Washtenaw will pay is $1,136.52 less than last year and the big sum of $18,835.30 less than two years ago. So much has a democratic state administration done for Washtenaw. To put the figures in different form, Washtenaw's state tax in 1889 was $57,798.54. In 1890 it was $40,099.76 and in 1891 it will be $38,963.24.

Supervisor James Kearns, of this city, the delegate sent to appear before the state board of equalization deserves considerable credit for his share in the work, as does Supervisor Gilbert, of Sylvan.

The great increase in the state equalization was caused in great part by the addition of $75,000,000 of mining property to the assessment rolls under an act of the last legislature. There was also a general increase in the counties.
The sum of $40,000,000 was added to Wayne county's equalization of five years ago, $1,500,000 was added to Monroe, $2,000,000 to Lenawee, $1,000,000 to Hillsdale, $1,000,000 to Livingston, $2,600,000 to Oakland, while Jackson remained as before. The equalization in these counties now is: Wayne, $190,- 000,000; Monroe, $16,500,000; Lenawee, $30,000,000; Hillsdale, $22,000,000; Livingston, $16,000,000; Oakland, $29,600,- 000. Owing to mining property being now assessed, Houghton county was raised from $6,500,000 to $40,000,000.

The A. A. L. I. Honorary Corps.

The Ann Arbor Light Infantry is preparing to furnish Ann Arbor what our sister cities all have and what Ann Arbor is sadly in need of—adequate club rooms where the members and our citizens can meet and spend a pleasant evening. Several weeks ago a committee was appointed to secure and fit up rooms for this purpose. The committee has secured rooms on the second story of the Hangsterfer building, immediately under the armory of of the company, and decorators and furnishers are now busy making out estimates for putting the rooms in proper shape.

The rooms secured are especially arranged for club rooms and include a large double reception room, smoking room, reading room, three card rooms, retiring rooms, closets, etc. The committee anticipates making the reception room one of the most elegant in decorations and in furnishings of any in the state. The decorations of the room are to be in white and gold plastic work in heavy relief. The furniture will be of heavy oak, upholstered with embossed leather and is being made to order. A fine Brussels carpet has been selected for the floor, the carpet to be covered with a canvas except on special occasions. The other rooms will be fitted up throughout to correspond to the use for which they are intended. The expense of decorating and furnishing the rooms will be about $1,000.

The club rooms are to be for the use of the active members of the Infantry and the honorary corps which has just been organized. Both active and honorary members will be allowed to entertain friends from out of the city at the club rooms, but our own citizens who are not on the company active or honorary rolls will have but little chance of enjoying them except at the invitation parties and inspections which the company contemplates giving during the season.

The honorary corps of the organization already includes the names of sixty of our most prominent businessmen and citizens, and this number will be increased twenty or twenty-five within the month. The members of this corps are entitled to all the privileges of active membership except the right to vote, and under the statutes are excused from all jury duty during the year. The list of honorary members up to the present time is as follows, the first five being members of the board of directors of the Infantry:

SUICIDE BY AMMONIA.

The Terrible Agony Does Not Prevent Its Use.

No poison brings death with more maddening agony than ammonia, but that fact does not seem to discourage the suicide. The man Harowitz, who deliberately swallowed a fatal dose of the drug in New York recently, is only one of the many who have gone the ammonia route to death in spite of the excruciating pain. Dr. Blyth has recorded thirty cases of ammonia poisoning in the small London district of which he is health officer; Professor Mitchell mentions twenty-two cases, and four have occurred during the short time Dr. Jenkins has been connected with the coroner's office in New York.

Cases of slow poisoning from ammonia are of constant occurrence among men who work in its manufacture, or even in decomposing substances which give it off in considerable quantities. Ammonia, slowly and from day to day taken into the system, causes the complexion to lose its freshness, and the skin of men who get heavily impregnated with it has a disagreeably blotched and discolored appearance.

Taken into the stomach from day to day in even the small quantities used to adulterate food, such as baking powder, it not only injures the complexion but attacks the lining of the stomach, and is the source of much general ill health.

The recent rapid increase in the use of ammonia for various purposes, and the consequent increase in its manufacture, have made it one of the most easily obtained poisons, and, although everybody is familiar with it in some form, there is a surprising amount of ignorance of its dangerous qualities.
Its use as an adulterant in any food preparation is simply a crime, and as a crime should be punished.

I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism for seven years, and hearing of the success of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, concluded to give it a trial. I have tested the curative properties of the mineral springs without finding relief from that or any other source until I tried Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, which has done wonders for me. I can now walk with entire freedom from pain and my general health is very much improved. It is a splendid remedy for the blood and the debilitated system. The family of Austin White are very much afflicted. Mr. White's twin sisters have both been sick all summer. The 11th Blanche died. His only child, a boy seven years old, was taken with gastric fever and died on the 12th. Both funerals were held at the house on the 13th. The other sister, Miss Bertha, is very low with no hope of recovery. Mr. White and wife have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

A Change In The Weather.
The person who can predict a change in the weather by means of his aches and pains may be very interesting to his neighbors as a walking barometer, but the position he occupies is not an enviable one. He needs a course of S. S. S. to make his bones and his joints weatherproof. Rheumatism cannot stand before the attacks of this wonderful blood purifier. There is no other remedy that has proven so efficacious in curing this disease as S. S. S. The testimonials to this effect cannot be gainsaid. They speak for themselves. To test the matter would not be a costly experiment to the sufferer, and it is an experiment that will surely bring relief.

Three gentlemen stopping at a tavern bore the names of More, Strange and Wright. Said the last: "There is but one rascal in this company, and that is Strange." "Yes," answered Strange, "there is one More." "Aye," said More, "that's Wright."

Our Old Fire Company.
"That was a gay old company that we belonged to, Joe, away back in '68, when you and I ran with the machine." Do you remember that big fire in Hotel Row, one freezing night, when fifteen people were pulled out of their burning rooms and came down the ladder in their night-clothes; and how 'Dick' Greene brought down two 'kids' at once—one in his arms, the other slung to his back? Poor 'Dick'! He got the catarrh dreadfully, from so much exposure, and suffered from it five years or more. We thought once he was going in consumption, sure. But, finally, he heard of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and tried it, and it cured him up as sound as a flint. I tell you, Joe, that catarrh remedy is a great thing. It saved as good a man and as brave a fireman as ever trod shoe leather."

WHO IS PAULINA MASON

Who Claims to be the Wife of the First Governor?

A ROMANTIC TALE, WITH INCONSISTENCIES.

Descended from a Noble Family—Charmed the Governor with a Guitar—An Army Nurse During the War—A Singular Fact that the Governor's Friend Never Heard of Such a Woman.

A long romance recently appeared in the New York World and many other dailies evidently belonging to the World syndicate. The subject was the widow of the first governor of Michigan. The article was so entertainingly written that we have had it set up in type and have been holding it a couple of weeks till we found space for it. On Tuesday of this week Ex-Governor Felch called our attention to a number of inconsistencies in the article, which is given in full below. Said the governor:

"The article is full of inconsistencies. It speaks of Judge Woodward as visiting her uncle in Detroit after 1834. Judge Woodward had been out of this country since 1824 and never came back. That is only one of many inconsistencies. I never heard of any such man connected with the survey as her uncle. I would like to know who the woman is, or whether there is any such woman.

"Governor Mason was married in 1838 to a Miss Phelps, the daughter of a merchant and rather distinguished man, in the city of New York. The governor died in January, 1843, leaving this wife and three children, two of whom have since died and one of whom is living in Newark, N. J. The mother married again. The name of her second husband is just now out of mind, but she lived until 1870, when she died in New York City. There is no such woman living as the widow of Ex-Governor Mason."

Ex-Governor Felch had recently received a letter from the daughter of Stevens T. Mason in which the article is spoken of. He has good grounds for believing, as he evidently does, that either an imposter has imposed upon a reporter, or, what seems more likely, the article is the creation of the brain of some unprincipled writer. It will be noticed in reading the article that Mason could not have been married to this woman, while governor, kept open house with her, entertained President Harrison and other notables, without Governor Felch having been aware of the fact. The story as told by the Toledo dispatch is as follows:

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 29.—The life history of Paulina Mason, who lives at Adams and Tenth streets in this city, equals the most elaborate works of fiction. From royalty and wealth she has been leveled by circumstances to the seclusion of poverty. This seclusion might never have been penetrated but for the accidental discovery a few days ago of the fact that she was formerly the wife of Stevens T. Mason, the famous "Boy Governor" of Michigan. From an interview with her, the object of which was the possible discovery of missing links in the annals of Michigan and the great Northwest, the facts came out. The story as she tells it, runs substantially as follows:

"I was born 70 years ago last March. Our family includes many famous names. My maiden name was Reauff. That is taken from my grandfather's name, Reauffanoff. My grandfather was a giant, both physically and intellectually. He was over seven feet in height, and weighed about 350 pounds. He was a native of Russia. He was a firm friend of Alexander I, and when the opportunity came he was made commander-in-chief of the whole Russian army. Europe has had but one general since then that could in any way compare with him, and that was Count von Moltke. My grandfather was a sort of tutor to Von Moltke, and it is no doubt due to the lessons in military tactics which he gave him that the latter attained such great success. Alexander II, Von Moltke and my father were sent to school together, and were inseparable friends.

AN ESTATE IN HOLLAND.

"As a reward for his services Emperor Alexander I gave grandfather a vast estate of eight or ten thousand acres in the territory which he had helped the French to win. The old general resigned his position in the army and moved to the new possessions, which became a part of Holland. He had his sons complete their courses at Zurich, each of them taking up the study of mining engineering. My father wooed and won a niece of Paul the Emperor; she was also a niece of Peter the Great. I am their child, and hence a grand-niece of those great rulers.

"But I didn't tell you how the Reauff came to leave Holland, did I? Well, the war between the French and English broke out as a partial result of the war of 1812, and the conflict of the merchant vessels of the two nations. Grandfather was still strong and energetic, although nearly 90 years of age. He owed considerable to the French government, and he promptly joined its army. He was an old friend of Napoleon's and the latter made him one of his greatest generals. He was finally taken prisoner along with Napoleon and the rest of the French. Napoleon was exiled to St. Helena, and grandfather was given his choice of going with him or going to America, besides having his vast estates confiscated. For his children's sake he came to America.

THE FAMILY IN PENNSYLVANIA.

"He brought all his sons with him and located with the rest of the Dutch in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Then grandfather and one of my uncles moved into Philadelphia, where they lived on Chester street until the old man died in 1834. He was then 107 years of age. I was 13 years old when he died, being the youngest one of my father's family.

"My father and uncles became very active in prospecting. They worked all over the state. One of them acquired a competence and settled down for the remainder of his life in Baltimore. Another became the head of a great iron company with headquarters in New York. I think it was the Holland Iron Company. The one in Philadelphia took care of grandfather until the latter died. There are plenty of Reauff descendants in all these cities and scattered around in their vicinities.

"When I was 16 years of age I was graduated from the convent. I was as highly educated as one of that age could be in those days. I suppose I was accomplished too, for I could play nearly every instrument there was, could paint pretty well and do many other things.

"After I graduated I lived with my uncle right along. Then one day he got a letter from Detroit, Mich., from Mr. Mason, who had been chosen Governor, making a proposition to him to prospect in the upper peninsula of Michigan, and ascertain if the reports were true as to its mineral wealth. My uncle accepted the trust, and the next summer he moved up there.

"I had not been in Detroit long when he was visited by Governor Mason, old Judge Woodward and others. Among them was a Mr. Pierce, who was appointed Superintendent of Public Schools by the Governor. He is the man who founded Michigan's excellent school system, reserving section 16 of every township in the State for a public fund. They came up to see how uncle was getting along with his work. One Sunday afternoon, when I supposed they were all away somewhere, I got out my guitar, and was singing the German to what you call 'Home, Sweet Home.' My uncle sent for me to come into the parlor, and there sat the Governor and all the gentlemen.

A HUSBAND WITH A GUITAR.

I was presented to them, and Mr. Mason said he had heard the singing, and wanted to hear more of it. It was a long time before I would consent. I sang two or three songs, and then they went away, but Mr. Mason watched me all the time he was there. I didn't know what to think. I was afraid I had done something I shouldn't. He came next day and asked me to sing again and the same thing the next day. Well, it was the same old story. We were married about six months after that, and settled down to housekeeping at Detroit, then the capital of Michigan. He had been private secretary to Territorial Governor Porter, and when the latter died in 1835, Mr. Mason was left in charge for a short time, pending the President's appointment. Although he was only twenty years old and perfectly beardless, he succeeded so admirably that President Van Buren appointed him Governor.

"My husband is a direct descendant of one of the oldest families of England. His forefathers were very near to the English throne at one time. The leader of the Mason house embarked on the Mayflower for America. Various members of the family became leaders of New England politics during colonial times. When the Revolution broke out they were foremost in the fight for liberty. History tells us of General Mason, who was killed in the war. Others of them were governors, senators or congressmen. My husband's father was a general in the war of 1812.

ENTERTAINED WILLIAM HARRISON.

"We entertained a great deal, for the 'Boy Governor' was not only famous, but he was popular. William Henry Harrison, who became President the next year after we were married, was a frequent visitor and a welcome one. Through him we got some property at Napoleon, O. Judge E. J. Potter, the man who invented the little three-cent pieces you sometimes run across, was often at our house. He is still alive and lives in this city.

"After Mr. Mason's term he became interested with General John C. Fremont in exploring the West. He and Fremont were students together and graduated side by side. They forced a way through the wilderness to the ocean, exploring the region where San Francisco now is, and north, up as far as Columbia river. They discovered some of the silver deposits in Colorado and located several claims. One of those of my husband's was 320 acres, on which part of Denver is now built. It was legally recorded and we have a good title to it. We got a government patent. But circumstances afterward occurred so that I could not attend to it, and the recorder who wrote down the claim afterward took the book home and changed the title to his own name. This I did not find out until after several years, when it was proven in court. He sold it to a man who soon died, and this man sold it to another named Yerkes, who still lives. The recorder died two years ago. The case is now in the chancery courts of Denver, and I think we will soon win it. One of my sons now lives in Denver, and is personally fighting the claim.

SENATOR PAYNE ONE OF THEM.

"I have another big case in the courts, too. I, with several other descendants of the Reauffanoff family, among whom is Senator Payne, of Ohio, are the sole and lawful heirs to one square mile which is now in the heart of Cleveland. We obtain our claim by right of a patent granted to Count Reauffanoff by the King of England, before the Revolutionary war. The patent is a matter of record and we have indisputable proof of its legality. Senator Payne now has the case in the United States Supreme Court. I do not suppose it will be determined before I die, but it will be sometime. General Reauffanoff was in the Russian army at the time and got the land through Alexander I, who made some kind of a treaty with the English. Our right to it is as good as that of the Knickerbockers, Stuyvesants, Van Burens and others who obtained patents from the mother country.

"There is some more property which by right belongs to the Reauff. That is the great Holland estate. My husband died in 1853, and with two or three of the other relatives, among whom is my cousin, Governor Mitchell, of Oregon, I went to the old country to see about it. Alexander II. remembered the circumstances and promised to do what he could for us. He opened negotiations with the French and Holland governments and was in a fair way of success when the nihilists struck him down. That took away our greatest hope and strongest help, and nothing has been done about it since. I do not suppose there ever will be now.

A NURSE DURING THE WAR.

"When I got back from Europe, where I had stayed long enough to study medicine at the Zurich medical college, and to get a diploma, I went west to see about our Denver property. Here I met General Fremont and wife, and with them went to Pike's Peak. Trouble with the South then seemed imminent and the General started for Missouri to get his men together. After the inauguration of Lincoln and the mutterings of war had grown into a tumult, the news came of the fall of Fort Sumter. All the old military fire of my grandfather seemed to be in me, and I could not stop. I hastened to St. Louis and enlisted as a war nurse, the first in the United States. I was detailed to go with General Fremont's army. We went right along with Grant's army. I was in the battles at Pittsburg Landing and Shiloh. After we had won the victory at Shiloh and the Confederates had retreated, I was busy attending the wounded. It was about four hours after the battle when a bullet from some sharpshooter's rifle struck me under the right arm. It glanced upward, went through part of my lung, knocked a piece off my shoulder blade, and lodged in my throat just in front of the main artery. Feel, here it is."

PAULINA OF THE POTOMAC.

"When I got out of the hospital at Cincinnati, where they took me," she continued, "I went to Washington and joined the Army of the Potomac. The soldiers nicknamed me 'Paulina of the Potomac' there. (Concluded on Sixth Page.)

NEVER A FAILURE.

The Red River Valley of Minnesota and North Dakota has never had a failure of crops.

It produced 30,000,000 bushels of wheat besides other cereals in 1890. Farms can be had on the crop plan, or long time cash payments.

It is not an uncommon thing to pay for a farm from the proceeds of one crop.

It has all of the advantages of an old country in the shape of school, church, market, postal & railway facilities and all the chances of a new country in the way of cheap lands, rich soil, and increase in values.

It is one of the most fertile and promising regions in America not yet fully occupied.

In the rush to the far west, however, this rich valley has been over-looked.

It has room for a million more people.

THE SONG OF THE "No. 9."

My dress is of fine polished oak, As rich as the finest fur cloak, And for handsome design— You just should see mine— No. 9, No. 9.

I'm beloved by the poor and the rich, For both I impartially stitch; In the cabin I shine, In the mansion I'm fine— No. 9, No. 9.

I never get surly nor tired, With seal I always am fired; To hard work I incline, For rest I ne'er pine— No. 9, No. 9.

I am easily purchased by all, With instalments that monthly do fall; And when I am thine, Then life is benign— No. 9, No. 9.

To the Paris Exposition I went, Upon getting the Grand Prize intent; I left all behind, The Grand Prize was mine— No. 9, No. 9.

At the Universal Exposition of 1889, at Paris, France, the best sewing machines of the world, including those of America, were in competition. They were passed upon by a jury composed of the best foreign mechanical experts, two of whom were the leading sewing machine manufacturers of France. This jury, after exhaustive examination and tests, adjudged that the Wheeler & Wilson machine was the best of all, and awarded that company the highest prize offered—the GRAND PRIZE—giving other companies only gold, silver and bronze medals.

The French government, as a further recognition of superiority, recorded Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, president of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor—the most prized honor of France.

The No. 9, for family use, and the No. 12, for manufacturing uses, are the best in the world to-day.

And now, when you want a sewing machine, if you do not get the best it will be your own fault. Ask your sewing machine dealer for the No. 9 Wheeler & Wilson machine. If he doesn't keep them, write to us for descriptive catalogue and terms. Agents wanted in all unoccupied territory.

THE SONG OF THE "No. 9."

My dress is of fine polished oak,

As rich as the finest fur cloak,

And for handsome design—

You just should see mine—

No. 9, No. 9.

I'm beloved by the poor and the rich,

For both I impartially stitch;

In the cabin I shine,

In the mansion I'm fine—

No. 9, No. 9.

I never get surly nor tired,

With seal I always am fired;

To hard work I incline,

For rest I ne'er pine—

No. 9, No. 9.

I am easily purchased by all,

With instalments that monthly do fall;

And when I am thine,

Then life is benign—

No. 9, No. 9.

To the Paris Exposition I went,

Upon getting the Grand Prize intent;

I left all behind,

The Grand Prize was mine—

No. 9, No. 9.

At the Universal Exposition of 1889, at Paris, France, the best sewing machines of the world, including those of America, were in competition. They were passed upon by a jury composed of the best foreign mechanical experts, two of whom were the leading sewing machine manufacturers of France. This jury, after exhaustive examination and tests, adjudged that the Wheeler & Wilson machine was the best of all, and awarded that company the highest prize offered—the GRAND PRIZE—giving other companies only gold, silver and bronze medals.

The French government, as a further recognition of superiority, recorded Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, president of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor—the most prized honor of France.

The No. 9, for family use, and the No. 12, for manufacturing uses, are the best in the world to-day.

And now, when you want a sewing machine, if you do not get the best it will be your own fault. Ask your sewing machine dealer for the No. 9 Wheeler & Wilson machine. If he doesn't keep them, write to us for descriptive catalogue and terms. Agents wanted in all unoccupied territory.

If the Republicans win in New York this year, it will be Boss Me-too Platt who will turn the Fassett and pour out the spoils among the faithful. What a prospect for the Empire state.

EUGENE Davenport, the professor of agriculture at the State Agricultural college has been offered the presidency of a new agricultural college in Brazil with a salary of $6,000, residence and living expenses. He has concluded to accept the position.

THE South American and Central American countries have already appropriated $1,980,000 for the World's Fair, Mexico leading with an appropriation of $750,000. Mexico will erect an ancient Aztec temple. Interest in the fair in foreign lands is growing.

THE Republicans of New York failed to nominate Andrew D. White, Cornell's ex-president and an expert of history in Michigan University, for governor, but instead nominated a machine politician, Boss Platt's most devoted henchman, the present collector of the port of New York. White was too clean a man. The boss of the party wanted a henchman in office, if the people can be fooled into electing him.

It has been customary in certain quarters to make light of all talk concerning mortgage indebtedness. The census reports, however, from Kansas show that the condition of that state can hardly be overdrawn. The mortgage indebtedness of the state is $235,485,108, while the total assessed valuation of both real and personal property is only $290,593,711. As chattel mortgages do not appear in the census returns, the condition of Kansas must be about as bad as it really can be.

THOSE who are throwing stones at the last legislature should glance at an article on our first page, showing how the legislature has affected taxes in this county. Notwithstanding the fact that the state board of equalization raised the assessment of this county, we will pay this year over $6,000 less taxes than under the old valuation. This is due in great part to a law passed by the last legislature making the rich mine owner stand on the same footing as the farmer as regards assessments. This added $75,000,000 to the state assessment and lessened the taxes of the farmers. Another fact will be noted. The state tax in this county this year will be over $18,000 less than it was two years ago. So much for a Democratic legislature.

Miss Tyler's New Book.

Miss Jessica Gilbert Tyler, the gifted daughter of Moses Coit Tyler, of Cornell University, formerly of this city, has entered the field of literature by translating from the German Dr. Edward Fluegel's "Moral and Religious Development of Thomas Carlyle."

Dr. Fluegel is one of the young and rising scholars in Germany, one of the editors of the "Anglia," the leading German periodical devoted to English philosophy and literature.

Charles Eliot Norton, in a note to Miss Tyler, says: "Dr. Fluegel's book on Carlyle deserves to be made known to English readers, for it is the most thorough, trustworthy, and intelligent study that has been made of Carlyle's Moral and Religious Development. It will not be long, I trust, before juster views of Carlyle's character will prevail than have been common, and to this desirable end Dr. Fluegel's book is well fitted to contribute."

A new and rare portrait of Carlyle, furnished especially for the American edition by his niece, will form the frontispiece.

The book will be published early in October by M. L. Holbrook & Co., of New York.

What Free Coinage of Silver Means.

Editor Argus:

DEAR SIR: Almost every farmer I meet wants to know what the free coinage of silver means. Now, through the Argus, with your consent, I propose to tell them. The free coinage of silver means that our people will return back to the unit or standard value adopted by our fathers in 1792, and continued for 81 years, up to 1873. During that time we fought one foreign and one domestic war, and prospered as no other nation ever did in that length of time. Then in 1873 the shysters, the men that held the evidence of indebtedness against our people, found that if this prosperity continued that in a very few years our farmers would all be able to pay their debts and have a competency left to them in their old age and then shyster's occupation would be gone. So the money changers got together to devise ways and means how to perpetually enslave the wealth producers with the curse of debt and usury. They found in order to stop this prosperity and make the wealth pass into the hands of the few, they must change the unit or standard of value from a cheap one to a dear one. So with the help of John Sherman and others of his kind they demonitized silver. That is change from a silver unit or dollar of 412 3/4 grains of standard silver to a gold unit of 25 8-10 grains to a dollar. That is by legislation increase the purchasing power of the dollar about one third. Now, Brother Farmers, when we say they increased the purchasing power of the dollar one third, it means that they lowered the price of your products and mine that amount. That is to say, the commodity value of the gold dollar being about one-third greater than the commodity value of the silver dollar you must give a third more of your products for the gold dollar than you would for the silver dollar, provided the silver dollar had remained our unit or standard of value. It not only increased our mortgage indebtedness one-third, but it increased our taxes one-third by lowering the price of our products that amount. Ever since silver was demonitized in 1873, our unit or dollar has circulated on the world's commodity value of 25 8-10 grains of gold. It does not make any difference when we receive our pay for our products in copper, nickels, silver or paper; it all being redeemed in gold, it has the same purchasing power as a gold dollar. As Secretary Foster expresses it, all of our money is now on a par with gold.

Now, Brother Farmers, I give you an unvarying rule; that you can always tell what the price of your products would be in silver with free coinage, after getting the price in gold, please remember that the free coinage of silver does not add to nor take away a farthing from the world's commodity value of the silver in a silver dollar. Also remember that with free coinage it circulates on the commodity value of silver in the dollar. To illustrate, say wheat now is worth one dollar a bushel, that means 25 8-10 grains of gold or its equivalent. Now ask the wheat buyer what is the commodity value of the silver in a silver dollar, (our daily newspapers quote the price of silver bullion so he can tell you its value within a fraction). (All metal, whether gold, silver, copper or iron, it being a commodity, it varies in price according to supply and demand.) Suppose he tells you that it is worth 7-10 of a gold dollar or 70 cents. Now under free coinage of silver, you get the silver dollar and 3-10 more in silver to make it up to the value of the gold dollar. Now, I think you can plainly see that on a gold basis your wheat is worth a dollar; with free coinage of silver it is worth one dollar and thirty cents a bushel.

I think you all now will see that for the past eighteen years we have been compelled to sell our products from 1/4 to 2/3 less than we would have received if our standard of value had not been changed. That is the reason we are all so badly in debt and have no money for fun. Now, Brother Farmers, if it should prove true that we are so party hide-bound that we will not unite and force our lawmakers to give us the free coinage of silver, then there is no use of trying for any other reform, as this silver question is the first round in the reform ladder. Shall we take all the lopperd milk and give the goldbugs all the cream? I say no. By the eternal, we will have this reform or we will unite and elect a new lot of lawmakers that will grant us this grand blessing. G. A. PETERS.

Tip. Wallace has bought a farm four miles south of Ann Arbor and will move there soon.

A. M. Freer is confined to the house and suffering much with inflammatory rheumatism.

Quail, which are now quite numerous, may be killed from November 1 to December 15. Many farmers object to hunters going upon their premises.

Burnett Steinbach threshed six bushels and a quarter of clover seed in twenty minutes last Wednesday, at David Lewicks farm in Lima, with his new Victor clover machine.

The railroad company is filling in about their depot and will improve the walks, build fences and make grass plats and flower-beds, all of which will be a great improvement to the town.

The Lutheran society had a well attended mission service at the Baptist church last Sunday morning and afternoon. Excellent addresses were delivered by ministers from Adrian, Grand Rapids, South Bend, and Francisco. It was all in German.

Beans have not moved to any extent yet, and it is evident now that the price will not run as high as last year. Extra nice stock from farmers would now bring $1.50 per bushel, but the crop is likely to be bought from $1 to $1.35. The late rains have materially damaged many lots.

Much corn is being cut up and the ground put into wheat and rye. A large part of the bean fields will be put into wheat or rye. The weather has been favorable for such work. Rye and beans are the most profitable crops that the farmers of this county can raise on light and hilly land.

Sowing wheat is still the order among farmers this week, and business in town is very dull. But little produce has been brought in and prices generally more inclined to go down than up. Wheat stands at 92 cts. for red and 90 cts. for white; rye, 86 cts.; barley, $1.10 to $1.30; oats, 30 cts.; clover seed, $4.25 for prime; potatoes, 25 cts. per bushel; apples, $1 per barrel, peaches, $1 to $1.50; eggs, 14 cts.; butter, 14 cts.; hogs on foot, $4.25; cattle, $3.50; chickens, 6 cts. per pound.

AN IMPORTANT BILL.

The Royal Baking Powder Condemned in the New York Legislature.

[New York Press.]

Last Monday Mr. Kelly introduced the following bill in the assembly. A careful reading of it will show that it is a very important one.

AN ACT to prevent the use of poisonous and injurious ingredients in baking powders.

WHEREAS, Baking Powders manufactured in this state, known as the "ROYAL" alum and other Baking Powders are advertised for sale as absolutely pure; and

WHEREAS, Official examination shows them to contain ammonia and other injurious ingredients; therefore THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1.—Every can or package of baking powder containing Ammonia offered for sale in this State shall have a conspicuous label thereon with the words "Contains Ammonia" printed thereon in plain type, not smaller than great primer, and any person who shall sell, or have or offer for sale, any such can or package of baking powder without such label thereon, shall be guilty of misdemeanor.

Section 2.—This act shall take effect July 1, 1891.

The Jolly Pathfinders.

The Jolly Pathfinders will appear in the opera house all next week with a change of bill each night. The following is clipped from the Jackson Daily Courier:

The "event of the season" is located in Jackson in the above wonderful aggregation of experts in fun making. It is in perfect order to say that nothing has yet struck our city to excel, and but few to equal the disciples of Momus, who form Rentrow's company, not a "stick" in the crowd, not a poor line in the dialogue, not a chestnut or stage joke, not a questionable word or double entendre, nothing but flashes of prime wit and situations ludicrously laughable. The play last night, "Below Zero," kept the house in a roar from first to last, and we are pleased to say it was a full house, full of people of fun and pure enjoyment.

The singing is excellent, the music superb, the acting too comical for expression, and the men and women real artists. To-night we believe standing room will be at discount and the Courier can honestly advise all and everyone to take the show in and prove the "Pathfinders" is no misnomer, for if there is a funny nerve in your body they will find it.

School Board Officers.

The school board met Tuesday evening for organization for the ensuing year, Messrs. Mack, Scott, Bach, Gruner, Smith, Whedon, and Jacobs being present. The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: Christian Mack, president; W. W. Whedon, secretary; L. Gruner, treasurer.

The president announced the following standing committees: Teachers, school and text-books, Messrs. Smith, Beal and Mack; buildings and grounds, Messrs. Jacobs, Gruner and Scott; finance and accounts, Messrs. Bach Sheehan and Whedon; library, Messrs. Bach, Whedon, Mack, and Perry.

PROTECT OUR BREAD.

The machinery of the law has not been put to work too speedily against the fraudulent use of ammonia and alum in Baking Powders. Both health and the pocket of the people are demanding protection. The legislatures of New York, Illinois and Minnesota have taken this matter of adulteration up, and especially that of Baking Powders. It will be in the interest of public health when their sale is made a misdemeanor in every State in the UNION, and the penalties of the law are rigidly enforced. There is no article of human food more wickedly adulterated than that of Baking Powder.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the only pure cream of tartar powder having a general sale that is free from ammonia, alum or taint of any kind of impurity. It makes the sweetest and lightest bread, biscuit and cake that are perfectly digestible whether hot or cold. It costs more to manufacture Dr. Price's than any other baking powder. It is superior to every other known and the standard for forty years.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

ver coinage at all seasons, designed to show that free silver coinage would mean cheap dollars.

The chimney for the boiler house at the new hospitals is no small affair, being 12½ feet in circumference at the base and 85 feet tall. It was started ten days ago and after the first day was "run up" at the rate of ten feet a day.

J. B. Corliss, of Detroit, who gave Ann Arbor its excellent street car service, has been conferring the same favor on Jackson and Saturday expects place.

The Jackson aldermen, who visited this city some weeks ago and looked over our water works, seem to have carried their project through. Jackson has just voted $100,000 bonds to put in additional water facilities, the vote standing 773 to 436.

A. J. Sawyer hasn't the gout, as many of his friends who see him limp-ing around with a cane this week may think. In stepping from a carriage at Dundee, Tuesday, he snapped a small ligament in his right leg, and that member has been pretty sore ever since.

The funeral of John Fiegel, of Pittsfield township, which was held at Zion church, Sunday morning, was one of The church was crowded to suffoca-cemetery.

Deputy Sheriff John Gillen, of Saline, was in the city, Monday, to take Sadie Linniger, of Saline, to the De-days, for being drunk on the streets.

She is an old offender, who has several times seen the inside of the jail owing to her failings.

Hon. Daniel Dougherty, who has no superior in America as an orator, will deliver a lecture in the opera house of this city Thursday evening, October 8, on oratory. He was secured through the efforts of Rev. Fr. Kelly and the opera house should be filled to overflowing on this occasion.

President Fred B. Braun, of the county fair association, while picking apples, Monday, fell from a ladder, breaking his wrist. He bears up philosophically, however, as the injury will give him all the more time to devote to booming the coming fair, the greatest in the history of the association.

D. B. Seeley, the Milan organ man who escaped from the custody of the officer who had arrested him on the charge of forgery, and who was recaptured in Canada by Deputy Sheriff Peterson last week, has had his examidefault of $1,500 bail, he is now in ders. The young couple left for a two weeks' trip to Chicago, St. Louis and other western points.

The authorities are after liquor dealers who have failed to take out a license. Oh Tuesday, John J. Schultz and Andreas Neff, of Scio, were brought before Justice Pond and bound over to the circuit court for trial on the charge of selling liquor without a license. Schultz gave bail but Neff was unable to do so and is in jail. On the same day Jacob Grab, an Ypsilanti brewer, was brought up for selling beer at retail without a license.
His examination was set down for the 25th.

Burns was stunned for a time, but soon recovered and went to work again.

WHO IS PAULINA MASON?

and by that name I am often referred to in the histories of the war. The soldiers have often made inquiries about me in their papers, but I have never told them where I was.

"After the war I came to Napoleon, O., and Toledo. I finished my medical studies so I could practice in Ohio, for I wanted to keep busy, although I did not need to work so far as money was concerned. But the day came when my profession was a valuable help to me. I had over $50,000 in the banks at Napoleon and Toledo. The owners of them were old friends of my dead husband's, and for twenty-five years or more our families had been on intimate terms. I trusted them to properly care for my money. Nine years ago every bank failed, taking $38,000. I spent $10,000 more trying to get the rest back, so now I am poor and have a hard battle to get along. It is a fearful blow. My only object in living, now, is to see my sons as well situated as possible. One of them is in Denver, one in Chicago, where he is on government business, one in Washington and one in New York. They are all good boys, and I earnestly hope they will not sully the proud name of either the Reauff or the Mason family. Never has there been a black name among either of them, and my effort as long as I live, is to keep the record up. You see I am proud, if I am poor."

SHERMAN TO GET HER A PENSION.

The old lady is wrinkled somewhat, but with a remarkably well preserved old lady. She has a small practice in this city, and the infirm directors do what they can for her by giving her city cases. She is said to be a good physician.

In connection with her story Mrs. Mason exhibited the diaries which had been kept by her grandfather, one from Paul the Emperor, two from Napoleon and dozens of them written by her uncle and husband. She retains as heirlooms articles from the Reauffanoff castle and gifts from the potentates of the European nations. She says most of that which fell to her lot, however, is now in the possession of the sons. The house she lives in is a story and a half frame cottage, plainly furnished. The gate is rickety, the fence is rickety, many of the slats in the window shutters are gone and the spikes in the short walks from the gate to the door catch one's toes. Mrs. Mason, after declaring for years that she would not, has applied for a pension and some of her friends here have gotten Senator Sherman personally interested in having it granted. She bids fair to need one for many years yet, for the longevity of her family seems to be inherited in her.

COUNTY.

Grass Lake's school tax will be $1,700. The bean crop, Saline, is reported large. A move is on foot to build a vault in the Dexter cemetery. There are 1,773 school children in the Ypsilanti district. Miss Watkins is teaching in the Tamarack district of York. John Crandall, of Salem, died September 5, aged 81 years. M. Schenk, of Sylvan, raised 2,800 bushels of wheat on 100 acres. H. Addis Leeson is teaching in the Spafard district of Manchester. The school census of the Chelsea district shows 463 children of school age. B. Frank Gooding was elected director in district No. 5, York, last week. J. L. Hoyt, of Saline, has a common red cherry tree with ripe fruit on it. John VanAtta has just sold an elegant team of bays to Edwin Snow, of Boston. Chas. Warner, of Dexter, got $530 for the increase of his flock since April 1. The Manchester Enterprise is twenty-four years old, and a pretty healthy paper. A. A. Wood, of Saline, captured $61 premiums on his merino sheep at the state fair. There are twenty-five less colored children of school age in Ypsilanti this year than last. D. Hazelschwardt, of Sharon, has threshed over 78,000 bushels of wheat this season. Miss Frank Simmons died in Sharon, September 4, of heart disease, aged forty-five years. W. H. Hack has been re-elected school trustee at Milan. A school tax of $1,660 was voted. A. F. Freeman, Esq., is having the first cement walk in Manchester laid in front of his residence. The collection at the annual mission festival of the Manchester Lutheran church amounted to $120. Paul, the eight-year-old son of Rev. Paul Irion, of Freedom, died of heart disease, September 5. Cavanaugh Lake looks like the deserted village. There will be plenty of animation there next summer. The trustees elect for the Salem union school district are John Van Sickle, Frank Ryder, Cody Burnett and Jas. Woodworth. Don C. Batchelder and Clark S. Wortley have been re-elected trustees of the Ypsilanti schools. A tax of $9,550 was voted. The next meeting of the Southern Washtenaw Farmers' Club will be held at the residence of F. M. Palmer, in Bridgewater, September 25. Rochus Gappa died in Manchester, September 6, of lung trouble, aged fifty-three years. The funeral was held in Freedom last Thursday. Jessie Swaine and Lillie Damm, the little girls who have been distributing flowers to the Central passengers at the Ypsilanti station, have distributed 3,543 bouquets to date. George Buhl, while hanging up a beef in Pinckney, forced the meat hook entirely through his hand, hanging himself up. His hand was terribly lacerated in getting it off the hook. Mrs. Amos Wilber, whose death was announced last week, removed from New York to Superior with her husband in 1836, settling on Section 15. Her husband and four children survive her. The expenses of the Manchester school last year were $4,363.70, of which $3,200 was paid teachers. The expenses this year are estimated at $5,343. The taxes for the year will be $2,800. There are 410 children of school age in the district. The expenses of the Ypsilanti schools last year were $23,808, of which $10,733 was for teachers' salary and $5,055 for a loan. The estimated expenses for the coming year are $18,185. The receipts from tuition last year were only $101. The Salem correspondent of the Tri-County Picket says: "This week finds our school teachers all at work. Miss Boughner, of Orchard Lake, teaches the Lyons and Salem school, Miss Jessie Roe, the Brick; Miss Ada Roe, at Dixboro; Miss Dake governs the Base Line school and Miss Ladd, in the Van Atta district. About a week ago there stepped from a Lake Shore train at this station a young Swede. He could neither talk nor understand English, neither was he conversant with the system of making signs, but Frank Maginn took him in hand, and to those who know Frank this means much. Frank and the young man started in search of some one to talk with. Many was the joke he played upon our citizens, but at last they found some one who understood Russian and the Swede informed him that he wished to go to Mackinaw where he has a brother living. Some one had swindled him at New York and got a Manchester ticket off on him which dropped him here, some 300 miles short of his destination. He has written his brother for money.—Manchester Enterprise.

CHEATING IN HORSE BLANKETS

Nearly every pattern of $\frac{5}{8}$ Horse Blanket is imitated in color and style. In most cases the imitation looks just as good as the genuine, but it hasn't the warp threads, and so lacks strength, and while it sells for only a little less than the genuine it isn't worth one-half as much. The fact that $\frac{5}{8}$ Horse Blankets are copied is strong evidence that they are THE STANDARD, and every buyer should see that the $\frac{5}{8}$ trade mark is sewed on the inside of the Blanket.

"All things come to them that wait," that is, if they happen to live long enough. East Catherine street, between Main and Fourth avenue, is actually being put in decent shape, after being more or less neglected for twenty-five years or more. It is good to have a board of public works, after all, and an efficient street commissioner. Let the good work go on.

An addition forty by thirty-five feet is being added to the engine room of the street railway company. A 150 horse power Buckeye engine has been purchased and is ready for shipment. The engines and dynamos will be placed to work in duplicate, so that in case of a break-down not more than ten minutes time will be taken to get the system in running order again. The new engine will be in running order for the county fair.

Mrs. Polly Irish, widow of the late Dr. Thomas Irish, of this city, died at the home of her son, George Wolaver, of Detroit, on Thursday of last week. The fair at Ypsilanti this week is a good one, but the one to be held here Sept. 29-Oct. 2 promises to surpass any of previous years. Palmer, besides an unusually fine display of stock and other fair attractions.

Corson, who is well known in the city as a most efficient dressmaker. The opening of Shadford & Corson occurs Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 24, 25 and 26 and we bespeak for them a liberal share of the patronage of the public.

Anna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bull, of the fifth ward, died at ten o'clock Monday morning, of consumption, in her eighteenth year. She was a very amiable young lady and was highly esteemed by all who know her. During the last week of her illness, recess was omitted every day at the Fifth ward school, lest the noisy play of the children should disturb her, she being a great favorite both with the pupils and teachers; and when news of her death reached the school, the flag was placed at half mast.
